Intro to Neurographic Art Class

Tuesday, Sept 23, 6-8pm, $40

Neurographic art is a therapeutic art form that utilizes drawing, or "doodling" freeform lines called "neuro lines." These lines, drawn with the simplest of tools, are meant to enable the connection between the conscious and unconscious. This connection is made by the brain cells called neurons being activated in a way that brings forth awareness and mindfulness. This awareness and mindfulness can turn stress into calm. Neurographic art has been used as a healing aid for everything from stress relief, anxiety, chronic pain, and grief among many more. drawing. Once this technique is learned, it can be done anywhere at any time.

This beginner class is a simple introduction to Neurographic art intended to teach the basics of drawing the neuro lines and develop awareness through freeform drawing. Once this technique is learned, it can be done anywhere at any time.
